

KUMON MEXICO CENTERS ENCOURAGE ENVIRONMENTAL AWARENESS

Kumon Casa Fuerte Activities to Develop Environmental Consciousness

Marcela Hernández, Instructor of Centro Kumon Casa Fuerte, gave the mothers of her Center a succulent plant as a gift for Mother's Day, showing students that gifts do not have to be expensive, but thoughtful. Gifts can also be a source of life. What better gift is there for the person who gives life to her children than a plant, that gives life to the environment? In this way, Marcela also applies basic environmental measures in her center, such as recycling the used and corrected worksheets from students and using a soap dispenser with biodegradable soap at the center, so students know it is a great practice to avoid wasting, no matter what it is, and that nowadays, there are a lot of products that are eco-friendly.

Daylight Hour

For the first time this year, our Green Team encouraged Kumon Associates and Instructors in the U.S., Canada, Mexico and Central America to participate in Daylight Hour. This global event raises awareness to conserve energy and light for one hour in office areas. On June 21st we had huge participation in all four areas. Most of our participants were Instructors, and many of our Mexico, Panama, Costa Rica and Guatemala Instructors loved this initiative. They were very happy to share many pictures with KNA and thanked the Green Team for encouraging everyone to participate in Daylight Hour and taking the initiative to save our planet.
